HACIENDA GOLF CLUB HOSTS THE PRESTIGIOUS U.S. AMATEUR WOMEN'S QUALIFIER

The United States Golf Association (USGA), the national governing body of golf since 1894, sponsors several championships including but not limited to U.S. Open, Women U.S. Open & U.S. Women's Amateur Championship.

The Women's Amateur Championship, the most prestigious tournament for amateur female golfers, attracts the best players from around the world. The handicap index for initial qualification is 5.4 or lower and golfers are required to play in a U.S. Women's qualifying round in order to be eligible for the championship.

This year, the tournament will be held in Oregon from August 4th – 10th. Hacienda Golf Club has the honor to host one of eighteen qualifying rounds on Monday, July 7. "We are always looking for Championship caliber golf courses that will bring the cream to the top" said Deb Long, the USGA Official-in-Charge, and added, "Challenging courses help to identify the best players for the national championship. As more golfers hit the ball further, many courses do not meet yardage requirements anymore. Hacienda Golf Club's renovation project has been phenomenal. We are very thankful to its management and membership for supporting the game of golf."

Hacienda Golf Club was also the home to Women U.S. Open Sectional qualifying in 2006 and will host a U.S. Men's Amateur Qualifier on Monday, August 4, 2008
